

Bombs rock three U.S. cities

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bombs were set off at nine business and government buildings in New York, Washington and Chicago early today. A Puerto Rican separatist group claimed responsibility for the bombings, which occurred a year and a day after five similar blasts the group was blamed for.

The bombs went off almost simultaneously in the three cities at about 2 a.m. EST and caused only minor damage and no injuries. One of the blasts damaged first and second-story windows at Chicago's Sears Tower, the world's tallest building.

The group's communique also said it had planted bombs in Puerto Rico, but there were no immediate reports of explosions there.

In New York the Police Bomb Squad said the explosions at four banks were caused by high yield explosive devices — similar to ones used in earlier explosions for which the Puerto Rican group claimed responsibility — but that a fifth blast was caused by a low-yield pipe bomb.

Puerto Rican separatists say they are responsible

Chicago authorities said the type of bombs used were similar to one which exploded June 14 at the Mid-Continental Plaza Building, also downtown.

A man called a Chicago newspaper after the explosions and said two more bombs were set to go off "in honor of the veterans." Police found an unexploded bomb consisting of five sticks of dynamite in a bouquet of roses at the Standard Oil Company building.

They also found a suspicious device outside the Federal Reserve Bank, but it turned out to be part of the bomb which caused the explosion in a building across the street. Windows in the Federal Reserve were broken by the other explosion.

A spokesman at the State Department in Washington said damage there was believed caused by one bomb. He said he had no immediate explanation for earlier reports from security personnel that four blasts occurred.

The Associated Press bureau in Baltimore later received an anonymous call saying the State Department bombing was "staged to protest the sellout of Israel to (Egyptian President Anwar) Sadat," who is meeting with President Ford today. The caller did not identify himself as belonging to any group.

In New York, Danny Mizeesko, 19, a security guard at a West Side branch of the First National City Bank, heard one of the explosions and ran outside. He was standing 30 feet away when a bomb exploded in front of his own building.

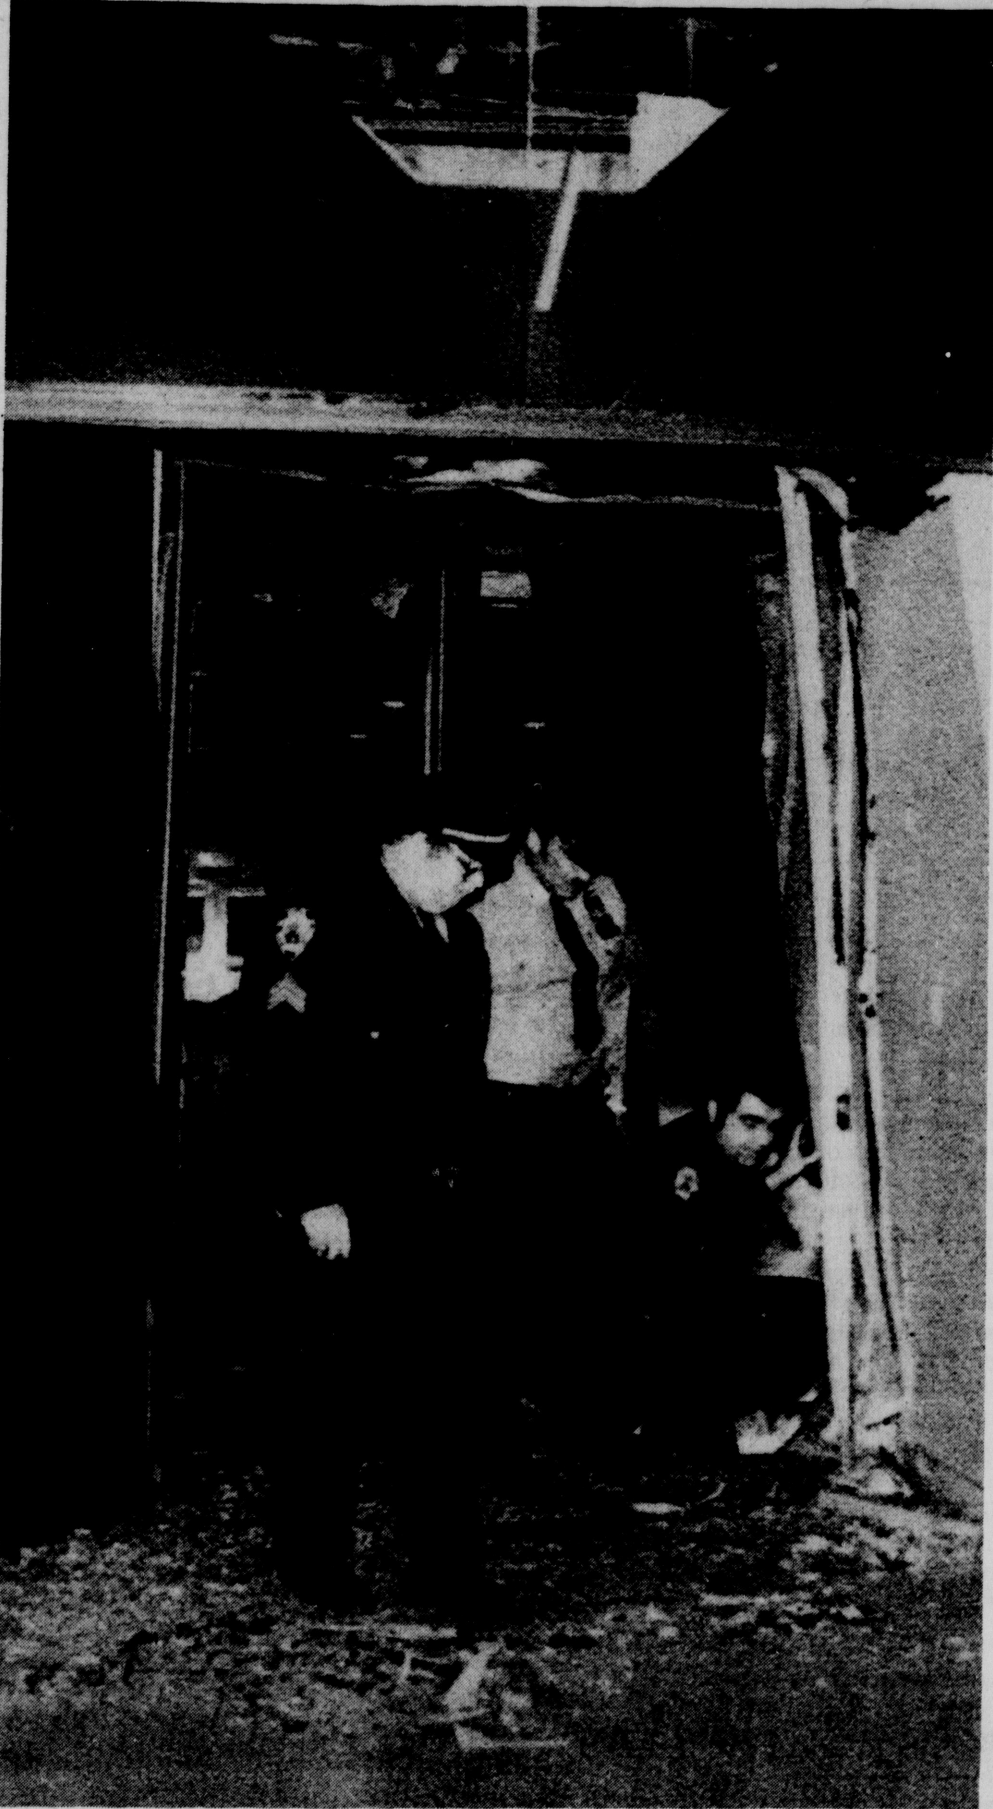

Shortly after the first blasts, a woman called The Associated Press in New York to say that the FALN was responsible for the blasts. FALN stands in Spanish for the Armed Forces for National Liberation, which seeks independence for Puerto Rico, a U.S. commonwealth.

The FALN had been blamed earlier for at least 10 bombings in the New York area, including one at historic Fraunces Tavern in Manhattan last January that killed four persons and injured 44 others.

A note found by the New York Post in a phone booth said the bombings were the FALN's way of commemorating what it said was the 25th anniversary of revolution in Puerto Rico. The note said in part:

"Today armed units of the FALN commemorate the 25th anniversary of the October 30, 1950, revolution in Puerto Rico against yanki domination, and marks the first anniversary as an organization, by launching a simultaneously coordinated attack against yanki government and monopoly capitalistic institutions in New York, Washington, D.C., Chicago and Puerto Rico."

Quinlan trial ends; ruling in two weeks

MORRISTOWN, N.J. (AP) — The Karen Anne Quinlan trial ended today with the judge saying he would rule in 10 to 14 days whether Miss Quinlan's life-sustaining respirator may be unhooked so she can "die with dignity."

Judge Robert Muir Jr. said he would either hand down a written opinion or deliver an oral ruling from the bench. He made the statement after hearing emotional closing arguments by the attorneys for Miss Quinlan's parents and five attorneys opposing their request to disconnect the machine.

Paul W. Armstrong, arguing for the Quinlans, said Muir should allow Miss Quinlan to "pass on with peace," and let her "follow the gentle call that beckons her to lasting peace."

Opposing attorneys asserted that allowing her to die would be tantamount to homicide or mercy killing.

"If Karen Anne Quinlan has one chance in a thousand, or one chance in 10,000, or one chance in a million, who are we and by what right do we kill that chance?" said Ralph Porzio, attorney for Miss Quinlan's doctors. The doctors have refused to remove the respirator.

Miss Quinlan, 21, has been in a coma for six months — in what doctors say is an irreversible and "persistent vegetative state."

Her parents, Joseph and Julia Quinlan have stopped praying for a miracle and say it is "God's will" that their daughter "pass into his gentle and loving hands" and "die with dignity."

Doctors have refused to unhook the respirator, saying that since Miss Quinlan is still alive it would be a violation of law and of medical tradition to deprive her of treatment that sustains her breathing. Some say "pulling the plug" would amount to using a "quality of life" scale to determine who lives.

Dr. Julius Korein, a neurologist who testified on the Quinlan's behalf, said that the purpose of the trial was to "make written an unwritten law" by

Sedalia Symphony opens new season

The Sedalia Symphony Orchestra will open its 41st season with a concert tonight in the Smith-Cotton auditorium. Abe Rosenthal will conduct.

Guest artist will be Leonora Suppan, Austrian pianist. She will play the first movement of the Grieg Piano Concerto in A Minor with the orchestra, as well as solo selections.

The concert, which will be dedicated to the memory of Harry Walch, who was a Symphony Society president and longtime supporter of the orchestra, will begin at 8 p.m.

Sugar can be a health hazard

CHICAGO (AP) — Feeding your sweet tooth may ruin your body as well as your teeth, three nutrition authorities said Sunday.

Dr. Frederic W. Nordsiek of New York said that sugar provides nothing to human nutrition but calories, and he and the others who presented papers at the annual meeting of the American Dental Association said that sugar can be a health hazard.

Nordsiek, recently retired adjunct professor of public health nutrition at Columbia University and vice president of Sloan-Kettering Institute, said the average American consumes more than two pounds of sugar a week.

Two-thirds of that amount is hidden in commercially processed and prepared foods such as jellies, fruits, cakes, candies and beverages, he said.

Around 1830, the average American consumed 15 pounds of sugar a year, compared to more than 100 pounds today, said Nordsiek, adding that even now people in some parts of the world eat no sugar.

Dr. Richard August Ahrens, a nutritionist at the University of Maryland, College Park, reported that high levels of sugar consumption have been shown to raise the blood pressure of both experimental animals and humans.

He said, "High blood pressure affects all of the organs of the body that have to work against it." It is, he added, a major cause of heart disease, stroke, diabetes and kidney disease.

Dr. James H. Dunning of Arlington, Va., a retired Harvard University dental professor, said that between-meal snacks are a major contributor to tooth decay because they usually are sweet. Not only that, he said, but often they are in a form such as candy, which sticks to the teeth.

In view of high sugar consumption, Dunning recommended health measures such as fluoridation of the water supply for the half of the U.S. population not yet receiving it, elimination of sweetened between-meal snacks, the application of fluoride to the surface of children's teeth by dental personnel at school.

Sixty tires slashed; loss set at $2,240

Sixty car and truck tires were slashed by vandals between 12:15 a.m. and 3 a.m. Sunday, police reported Monday.

All of the 35 vandalism reports came from an area between Broadway and 16th on Stewart, Park, Carr and Sneed Avenues.

Value for the 60 tires was set at more than $2,240.

Also reported damaged by vandals were four vinyl tops on cars, two outside mirrors and an antenna. Paint was spilled on another car.

Police reported that all of the tires and the vinyl tops were slashed by a sharp object.

Reports on the wave of vandalism began coming into the police department early Sunday morning. Officers arriving at the scenes discovered other cars in the area also were damaged.

In most cases only the tires on the street side of the cars were damaged. However, one owner reported all four of her tires were slashed.

Police reported that they were investigating the incidents Monday morning. One theory was that the damage was done by students from Kansas City following Saturday night's football game with Smith-Cotton High School. However, police discounted this explanation because of the time of the vandalism.

Report links Hoover to note

NEW YORK (AP) — A former FBI official says J. Edgar Hoover was responsible for concealing from the Warren Commission a threatening note delivered by Lee Harvey Oswald to the FBI's Dallas office about 10 days before President John F. Kennedy was assassinated, Time Magazine reports.

The magazine said William C. Sullivan, head of the FBI's Domestic Intelligence Division at the time of the assassination, also said at least 10 top bureau officials were aware of the note.

An FBI spokesman in Washington said, "Mr. Sullivan's statement is completely without any basis in fact, completely erroneous."

The note delivered personally by Oswald to the FBI in Dallas made no mention of the President, according to the FBI. Its existence was verified recently by the agency, but FBI spokesman said it was a vague threat of reprisal if FBI agents did not stop interviewing Oswald's Russian-born wife, Marina.

U.S. Embassy advises some to leave Beirut

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Beirut airport became a madhouse of confusion today after the U.S. Embassy advised Americans whose business is nonessential to get out of the war-torn Lebanese capital.

Though saying it was not ordering an evacuation, the embassy issued the "informal" advice as Moslem and Christian gunmen carried their street war into the previously peaceful foreign residential district.

The 18,000-man Lebanese army set up rigorous checkpoints to guard the road to the airport south of town as large numbers of Americans and other foreigners began to leave. Only passengers with confirmed flight tickets were allowed near the airport.

The U.S. Embassy said families of embassy personnel and nonessential personnel were being sent out of the country. It advised all other American women and children and men whose business is not essential also to leave.

About 3,500 Americans are still in the former financial capital of the Middle East. About the same number have left the city because of the fighting which has paralyzed business life.

Rockets exploded and machine-gun bursts ripped through the alleys and streets of the downtown Qantari district as leftist Lebanese Moslems and radical Palestinian guerrillas duelled with militiamen of the conservative Christian Phalange party.

The police reported 52 persons killed Sunday night and this morning, including 29 in Qantari.

At least two fires were started, but the gunmen drove the fire brigades and ambulances back and wounded 10 firemen.

"If you must fight, go ahead until you kill each other," announcer Sherif Akhawi shouted over the government radio. "But be human as in other nations. Don't shoot at firemen, ambulances and newsmen."

Moslem gunmen wounded Chicago

Tribune correspondent Phil Caputo in both feet Sunday night. He spent an uncomfortable night in a hospital in Qantari with the street war exploding outside his window.

Three bullets penetrated the Associated Press office during the night, but no one was hurt.

Moslem militiamen broke into the apartment of Washington Post newsman Jonathan Randal and kidnaped him. He was released after he got them to telephone Algerian Ambassador Mohammed Yazid, who told them he was a legitimate journalist.

Premier Rashid Karami announced a new cease-fire agreement, but it was no more effective than the dozens of others in the seven-month-old war.

Fighting was also reported in several suburbs.

Moslem snipers took up positions in the upper floors of an unfinished 40-story building and rained bullets down on Christian militiamen.

Polly's pointers

Lacquer thinner may be the answer

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — If Theresa will put her cookie sheet in a cold oven and let it heat with the oven it will not turn up. I had the same trouble one time when I put a pumpkin pie on my cookie sheet and into a hot oven. In a few minutes I had pie filling all over my oven. My daughter was visiting me at the time and was surprised I did not know better. Any way, I have no more defiant cookie sheets. — MRS. C.B.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with parents who either cannot hear, or do not care what is going on. They allow their teen-agers to stay out until all hours especially on week-ends. They race and hot rod up and down the highways, screaming their motors and awakening and disturbing the entire area. Many residents must drive miles to work and need a decent night's rest. Many are old and ill and should not be disturbed. In our area this has been reported but nothing seems to be done about it. Any suggestions? — E.C.A.

DEAR POLLY — I am sure many readers have had eggs roll all over the counter top and/or on to the floor, when baking or cooking and trying to use as few bowls as possible. I accidentally solved this problem when I put the plastic rings from a six-pack of beverage on my counter top. It is ideal for containing the eggs. I also think it will be great to use when dyeing Easter eggs. It will keep them from bumping into each other and ruining the colors. By rings I mean the plastic carrier used to hold six cans of a beverage together. — BEVERLY.

DEAR POLLY — When freezing peas, green beans, etc. I spread them out in a pan to freeze and then put in plastic bags or boxes. When they are to be used any part of a package can be used without thawing all of it.

To suspend a paint brush in cleaner cut cross slots in the plastic top on a coffee can and poke the handle of the brush up through to the top from underneath. The plastic will grip the handle and hold the brush suspended in the cleaner.

To prevent splattering when beating eggs cover the bowl with a plastic bowl cover, with a hole made in the center for the beater to go through. — MRS. L.W.

Polly's problem

DEAR POLLY — I have some beautiful old silver plated pieces that the former owner had sprayed with clear lacquer to prevent tarnishing. This was not done adequately and the parts not completely covered have tarnished. I do not know how to remove the lacquer without further harming these beautiful pieces. Can you tell me how to do this? — PERPLEXED JEAN.

DEAR JEAN — A silver plating company advised me to soak old rags in lacquer thinner (keep away from any fire) and lay them on the remaining lacquer, until it loosens and will wipe or wash away. — POLLY

Power of suggestion eases childbirth pain

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Husbands are using the power of suggestion to make it easier for their pregnant wives to give birth. It's part of a new program at the University of Minnesota.

"By applying this method we can considerably cut down the amount of anesthesia needed," said Dr. Harold J. Hofstrand, assistant professor of family practice and community health.

He has been developing the method since January and more than a dozen couples are satisfied "graduates."

Hofstrand stops short of calling the technique "hypnotism," preferring "intensive suggestive rapport — ISR."

"We don't use the same type of phenomenon."

His three-phase program covers about six months, beginning after the first trimester of pregnancy.

The first step involves teaching the couple about the program at the University Hospital; the second stresses practice at home, the third concentrates on the final month including the critical time in the "labor room."

Hofstrand said that "suggestive communication" is important in his program.

In the latter stages of pregnancy a sensitive listening device is sometimes taped to the woman's abdomen. It picks up the heart beat of the fetus and both parents hear it simultaneously.

"It is a very effective technique, very intimate, and brings the three of them very close together," said Hofstrand.

He said that a woman was told how she could change sensations in her hands, arms and various parts of the body, and might apply this to ease pain during labor.

Husbands are taught to help draw pain from their wives by suggesting back pain during labor is being transferred to them.

One woman who had used Hofstrand's techniques said: "I felt like a great athlete competing in the final lap of a race, and I was winning. An athlete can experience a great deal of physical pain in straining to finish. But it is such an exhilarating kind of pain that it doesn't hurt, or rather, it hurts so good."

Hofstrand said: "The difference between this type of technique and others is that we teach the couple to work together so that the physician is not involved."

"An important by-product is that the young couple are learning the art of communication, which can be adapted to other phases of life. They learn a lot about each other."

Open houses planned for National Head Start Week

Open houses at the three Sedalia Head Start centers will be held next weekend in observance of National Head Start Week, Oct. 26 to Nov. 1.

Head Start, operated in this area by the Missouri Valley Human Resource Development Corp. (MVHRDC) with funds from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, is a child development program for economically disadvantaged preschool children.

In observance of the week, MVHRDC Executive Director R.E. "Bob" Schultz and Head Start Program Director Ralph Rippel want citizens to visit their local Head Start centers. Sedalia I and II centers will hold an open house from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Friday at the Community Center. The Buckner center will be open for visits from citizens in the community from 2 go 4 p.m. Sunday.

Sedalia I and II Head Start Centers, located at 314 South Washington, have an enrollment of 40 children and staff consisting of Bettye Taylor, Ruby Stevenson, teacher-supervisors; Sharon Alfrey, Gertrude Crobarker, teacher aides; Louise Woods, community aide; Lois Bassett, cook; Arnela Harker, Sharon Boyd, drivers; and Leo Washington, custodian.

Buckner Head Start Center, 357 West Saline, has 20 children enrolled from Buckner project families. Elvera Satterwhite is the teacher-supervisor. Other members of the staff are LaWanda Rice, teacher aide; Shirley Merk, community aide and driver; Pearl Kemp, cook; and Arnetta President, custodian.

Nationally, the Head Start program marked its 10th year of operation in May of this year. Its overall goal is to increase the child's effectiveness in dealing with his environment.

Gov. Christopher Bond, at a recent meeting of Missouri Head Start Directors in Jefferson City, spoke of the importance of early childhood education. He praised the work of Head Start in the state and pledged his support. Lt. Gov. William Phelps also spoke at the meeting, recognizing Head Start for contributing, in the first nine months of 1975, more than 555,000 hours of volunteer time. Head Start centers rely on volunteers to aid in their program and volunteers at the local level are welcomed.

Mayor Jerry Jones also recently signed a proclamation declaring this week Head Start Week. Children from all three centers also made a poster to be displayed at Missouri Public Service Co., 400 South Ohio, during the week.

What has gone up more than electricity? ALMOST EVERYTHING!

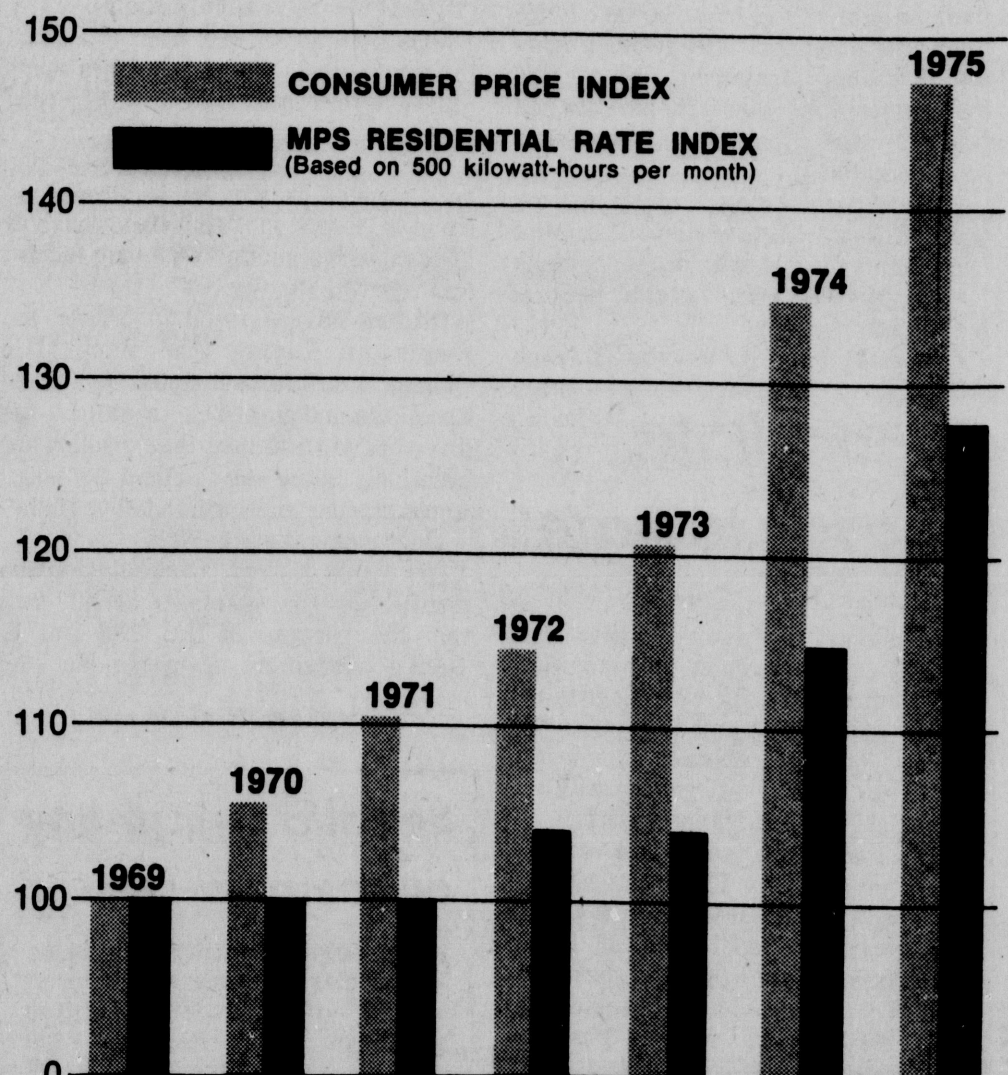

The Consumer Price Index (CPI) represents the average cost of most of the things people buy. As the graph shows, the CPI has increased 47% since 1969. During the same time, rate increases caused the cost of 500 kilowatt-hours of electricity for MPS customers to increase only 28%.

Sure the electric bills are higher in the summer. But they are not as high in the fall, winter and spring. The size of the electric bill depends on the amount of electricity used. And the customer doesn't pay for it until after he has enjoyed the comforts and conveniences the electricity provided.

MPS employees are no different than anyone else. They're consumers too. When prices go up, they pay as much as their neighbors do.

So we're trying to hold the cost of electricity down. But the things we need to buy to give reliable service continue to go up just like the Consumer Price Index.

Lost IUDs located by X-ray studies

CHARLESTON, S. C. (AP) — Although intrauterine contraceptive devices (IUDs) are about 97 per cent effective when in place, on rare occasions they can pierce the uterine wall and enter the abdominal cavity, two physicians at the Medical University of South Carolina here report.

Fortunately, almost all IUDs are radiopaque and can be located with X-ray studies, because manual or mechanical location is difficult, although these methods should be tried first, say Dr. E.Q. Seymour, radiologist, and Dr. H. Oliver Williams, gynecologist. X-rays are also indicated if there is a question as to the position of the device when surgery is necessary to remove it. Removal is imperative if the IUD has gone through the uterine wall and into the abdominal cavity because it can perforate the bowel and cause other serious problems.

IUDs are used by anywhere from three to five million women.

Milton Mathew, weed control officer, and Jim Mathewson, state legislator, invite any farmer, seed or chemical dealer and anyone else interested in Missouri having a noxious weed law to attend one of the four hearings in the State of Missouri at the Sedalia Municipal Building at 1 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 30th. The legislative committee wishes to hear what the people of Missouri think. Come and hear and participate in the discussion as to what is probably best for us to have in controlling of noxious weeds.

Urban-rural
The Agriculture Committee of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce will be hosting about 70 farm families as their guests at the Ramada Inn Friday night. Last year these farm families hosted the Sedalia merchants to a basket dinner on the Bill Lamm and Everett Wood farm.

Senator Tom Eagleton will be the speaker.

Fireplace care
An increased concern for conserving energy has prompted more homeowners to use fireplaces as a winter heat source. It has also resulted in an increase in the number of chimney fires.

A three-part maintenance program to reduce the chances for chimney fires is to inspect your fireplace, clean and repair it if necessary and avoid burning soot-producing materials. To clean a chimney, cover the fireplace opening with an old sheet, rung out of water and hung on a wooden frame made from scrap lumber. Then fill a burlap bag with straw, rags or sawdust, and add a couple of large stones or bricks.

Tie a rope on the bag and lower it into the chimney, pulling it up and lowering it until the flue walls are clean. Finally, remove the sheet, wet the soot with a garden sprayer and clean up. To keep the chimney clean don't burn wastepaper, old milk cartons, plywood, leaves or heavy-sapped wood.

Fall bulbs
Tulips, daffodils and hyacinths lead the parade of bulbs for fall planting. However, many gardeners often forget that fall is also a good time for planting, dividing or moving garden lilies. The lily, unlike the spring flowering bulbs, may also be purchased and planted in spring.

Lilies are one of our most showy garden flowers. If adequate space is available, varieties may be planted for a succession of blooms from May to frost. They have a wide color range, including white, orange, yellow, red, pink, maroon and purple, with only a true blue missing.

Steers versus heifers
Should I feed steers, heifers, or a combination of the two? Research at the University of Missouri provides some information on which to help made decisions. Rate of gain of steers is about 12 per cent faster than heifers. Feed conversion to a given grade is about the same. Heifers fed to the same grade of steers will usually need to be marketed at a lighter weight and before steers with approximately the same amount of feed for each 100 pounds gained. One of the problems of feeding heifers is the lower slaughter market price. Most any period of time you want to evaluate the difference in price of steers and heifers you will find the spread from $2 to $2.50 per hundred weight. When buying feeder cattle and doubling their weight, a $2 spread at selling time is a $4 spread needed at purchase time.

Should heifers and steers be mixed in the same lot, is a question often asked. A lot of feeders do this. Missouri's research data is not adequate to draw any conclusions on this question, but my personal observation is that in feeding steers and heifers the result is slightly slower gain for the steers and slightly more feed per 100 pounds gain.

In summary, when buying feeder heifers, you can expect slower gains, tendency for poorer feed conversion, some pregnant heifers, and lower slaughter prices. This shows heifers should be purchased at least $5 to $6 less than steers to be equal in value to you in your feedlot.

At feeder cattle sales in recent weeks I have seen heifers sell for from a $2 to $10 spread in price.

Red clover seed
Production of the 1975 red clover seed crop is forecast to be 16 per cent more than a year ago. The increase in production is the combined result of more acreage and higher yields. The crop this year is expected to be harvested from 340,000 acres, nearly 12,000 more than last year. Missouri will show the largest increase, increasing from 24,000 acres last year to 35,000 acres this year. Yields in Missouri are expected to average 130 pounds per acre, up from last year's yield of 80 pounds.

Farm Roundup

Soybean sales may rise

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union's sunflower seed crop has been hit hard by drought this year and could fall 18.6 per cent below 1974 output, a factor in determining potential U.S. soybean sales to Russia, an Agriculture Department expert said today.

George E. Wanamaker of the department's Foreign Agricultural Service said that, if indicated lower yields materialize as they appear, total Soviet seed output would range between 5.5 million and 6.0 million metric tons. There are 2,205 pounds in a metric ton.

The Russian sunflower seed harvest in 1974, a prime source of vegetable oil and high-protein meal, was 6.76 million tons, down from a record of almost 7.4 million in 1973.

Wanamaker's report, published in a weekly issue of "Foreign Agriculture" by his agency, was based on findings of a U.S. team that visited the Soviet Union last month.

"With the crop at this reduced level, the Soviets apparently will need to import soybeans, largely to fill the gap in edible oil needs and maintain protein cake and meal supplies (for livestock)," Wanamaker said.

According to other USDA officials, Russia has not bought U.S. soybeans for about three years but may be showing renewed interest because of the sunflower seed shortfall.

The Soviets reportedly have purchased 1.5 million tons of soybeans from Brazil, and some officials think they might buy at least 500,000 tons of U.S. beans during the 1975-76 season.

According to Wanamaker, Russia has the crushing mill capacity to handle only about 500,000 tons of soybeans a year when sunflower seed output is normal. Thus, the only time soybeans in excess of that amount can be imported is when there is a shortfall in domestic oilseed production.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz will visit at least nine European capitals next month on a tour that will put him in touch with many of the world's food and agricultural trade leaders.

Butz will be in Brussels on

Nov. 12 to meet with Common Market officials and then head for Rome for a meeting Nov. 12-15 of the United Nations Food and Agricultural Organization (FAO).

After the Rome conference, Butz will go to Iran, Israel, Yugoslavia, Romania, Poland and Britain. While in Warsaw Nov. 25-27, Butz is expected to sign or initial a new pact calling for long-term U.S. grain commitments to Poland. The basic details were worked out last month when U.S. grain sales to Poland were halted briefly as a companion measure to the embargo on sales to the Soviet Union.

Hog market expected to make a comeback

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — For Corn Belt farmers it's simple economics: why take on the headaches of hog production when they can sell their corn for cash and make more money?

No reason, a goodly number of farmers decided a year ago.

That's why hog marketing at major Midwest markets dwindled this summer and fell to about half the supply of a year earlier and market hog prices hit unheard of levels ranging from $64.25 a hundred pounds at Sioux City, Iowa, to $66.50 at Joliet, Ill.

It's also why consumers saw bacon soar to around $2.50 a pound while ham and porkchop prices went out of sight.

But it's a short-run situation, say meat marketing experts in Iowa, the nation's No. 1 hog producing state.

Already hog prices have drifted down from their peak to the $50 to $55 range, and there are signs the hog supply will increase by next summer.

"We think farmers now are gearing up to get back into hog feeding," said Dr. Marvin Skadberg, extension marketing specialist at Iowa State University.

But don't expect any sharp drop in supermarket pork prices, he cautions. The market price of hogs will remain fairly high through most of 1976 despite increased supplies, he predicts.

Dr. Skadberg said the U.S. Department of Agriculture predicts a 6 per cent increase in pig farrowings in December through February compared with the same period a year ago.

"That won't be enough to pull hog prices down into the $30 range where they were before," he said. "We think they'll hover at around $50 for several months."

Dr. Skadberg said the short hog supply has meant curtailed slaughter schedules at many packing plants but he discounted a suggestion that it may have caused Wilson & Co. to close its plant at Omaha and the Armour company to shut down its Mason City, Iowa, plant.

Those plants are being phased out because they are obsolete, though the hog shortage may have hastened the decision," he said.

Roger Read, an Iowa Farm Bureau Federation marketing specialist, agreed with Dr. Skadberg that farmers will be feeding more corn to livestock in the immediate future, but said it isn't limited to hogs.

He said the USDA has predicted an increased hatch of both broiler and egg-laying chickens; cattle on feed over the nation were up 2 per cent as of Oct. 1 compared with last year, and there were 22 per cent more cattle on "concentrated rations" in the July-September period than a year earlier.

"We think we are going to see the demand for pork and beef continue very good," he said. "Down the road, we're saying that farmers are going to be feeding more corn to livestock, which will mean more meat."

He said the USDA estimates the domestic demand for corn at from 3.4 to 3.7 billion bushels for the 1975-76 production year compared with 3.251 billion bushels in the 1974-75 year.

Authorities await results of autopsy

HARRISBURG, Mo. (AP) — Authorities expected results of an autopsy today would point to the exact cause of death of an 88-year-old Boone County resident, whose body was taken Sunday from his burning home.

Porter Simm was burned severely in the blaze, Dr. John Townsend, county medical examiner, reported.

The cause of the blaze was unknown.

A spokesman for the Boone County Fire Protection District said by the time fire units arrived, the home, about 15 miles northwest of Columbia, had been destroyed.

The loss was estimated to be $10,000.

Ford welcomes Sadat; students plan protest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, the first Egyptian head of state to visit the United States, got a warm, personal welcome today from President Ford, who called their meeting a signal that progress toward peace in the Middle East "will not stop."

In colorful ceremonies at the White House, Ford hailed the Egyptian president's wisdom, sincerity and moderation. Sadat will stay two days in Washington before visiting New York City, Chicago and Houston and then returning to address a joint session of Congress.

Sadat applauded the President's remarks and declared that progress toward peace since he and Ford met last June in Salzburg "could be considered a turning point in Arab-Israeli relations." He said he came to the United States "with an open heart."

After the ceremonies on the south lawn of the White House, Ford and Sadat began a private session in the Oval Office with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

As the two presidents met, about 300 Arab and Iranian students chanting "down with Sadat" and "long live Palestine," marched a half mile through downtown Washington to the White House. "Sadat is here, visiting his bosses," one demonstrator shouted.

The demonstration was sponsored by the Iranian Students Association and the Organization of Arab Students in the United States and Canada, which said recent Sinai peace accords pose "grave implications for the Arab national liberation struggle."

After the meeting, as Sadat's motorcade left the White House, the demonstrators gathered along Pennsylvania Avenue and chanted: "Sadat is a U.S. puppet, Sadat is a U.S. puppet." From the back seat of his limousine, Sadat smiled and waved at the protesters.

At the same time, an anonymous caller told The Associated Press bureau here that an early morning bombing at the State Department was to protest the President's "sellout of Israel to Sadat."

Federal attorneys seeking agreement

The U.S. attorney's office in Kansas City is currently trying to obtain an agreement with Shell-Mart Inc., former operators of the State Fair Twin Cinema here, that it will show no obscene movies in the judicial Western District of Missouri.

City Attorney Robert Liston said Monday that the federal office is interested in an agreement similar to the one reached between his office and Shell-Mart last week.

Shell-Mart's attorney, John Weston, Los Angeles, Calif., sent Liston written confirmation on Thursday to a tentative plea-bargain offer extended by Weston in the case involving two employees of the theater.

Theater manager Otis J. Land, 26, 2437 West Third, and projectionist Ronald Lee Dollinger, 18, Western View Estates, were arrested by Sedalia police Oct. 10 at the theater and charged with allowing obscene material to be shown and showing obscene material, respectively.

Liston said Thursday he would enter a written dismissal on those charges. In exchange, he said, Weston agreed that his clients will show no more X-rated movies at the theater.

Mayor Jerry Jones, who filed the complaint with police against the film, "Tower of Love," also said he would request the charges be dismissed, Liston said, following the agreement.

Before that agreement was confirmed, HBM Investment Co. of Sedalia, lessee of the theater since last July, resumed management of the theater on Wednesday. It was learned that HBM will show no X-rated films in the theater.

The film named in the complaint was confiscated by police when Land and Dollinger were arrested.

The Western District of Missouri, which extends from roughly Jefferson City to the west, is the area involved in federal proceedings in regard to Shell-Mart.

Autopsy performed on 12-month-old boy

The Pettis County sheriff's department is conducting a "routine" investigation into the death Saturday of 12-month-old Brian Keith Tull, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Howard, 321 East 14th.

Sheriff Emmett Fairfax said the boy was taken to Bothwell Hospital Saturday and was transferred later that morning to the University of Missouri Medical Center in Columbia, where he died at 5:30 p.m., apparently of head injuries.

Fairfax said Mrs. Howard said the infant was trying to pull himself up in his crib and fell out.

Mutilations reported near Buffalo, Mo.

BUFFALO, Mo. (AP) — Two reports of cattle mutilations in the Buffalo area were being investigated today.

Sheriff Jerry Cox of Dallas County said two heifers were found dead on separate farms about seven miles south of Buffalo over the weekend. Each was missing its left eye, left ear and sexual organs, Cox said, and blood had been drained from the animals. The farms are less than a mile apart.

The sheriff said the animals had been dead more than a week when they were found — one of them Friday night, and the other on Saturday. He speculated that a tranquilizer gun might have been used because there were no signs of struggles. Cox said there was no blood found at the scene.

The mutilations were the first reported in the Buffalo area, but mutilated cattle has been found in scattered sections of Missouri recently.

The Missouri Cattlemen's Association said last week it was extending its standing $2,000 reward program for information on cattle rustlers to cover the mutilation cases.

"We wholeheartedly applaud any activity that makes the public aware that, to the detriment of the free world, Israel is being sold out step by step by Dr. Kissinger and his puppet, Mr. Ford."

Perl added: "We are convinced that the bombing of the State Department and Mr. Sadat's visit and grandiose reception are associated."

Damage at the State Department was estimated at $15,000, much of it to doors and windows on one side of the building.

Many injured in fighting in Portugal

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Troops broke up a battle in which dozens were injured early today after Communists seized the governor's mansion in the southern town of Faro.

The Communists and their allies took over the mansion to protest the interior ministry's replacement last week of a proCommunist governor with a Socialist.

Several hundred demonstrators broke into the building, shouting, "Disinfect it! Disinfect it!" The new governor is named Almeida Carrapato, and carrapato is Portuguese for louse.

A crowd of Socialists and Popular Democrats tried to dislodge the Communists, and the two groups battled until troops from an infantry regiment escorted the occupiers to safety.

The interior of the mansion was badly damaged.

Other troops evicted squatters who seized a farm in the Ribatejo area. It was the first official action against illegal land seizures, estimated to total more than half a million acres, since the military overthrew the rightist dictatorship 18 months ago.

In the town of Marinha Grande, about 70 miles north of Lisbon, a bomb damaged the local offices of the Popular Democratic party. No one was reported hurt.

World's largest

The Pentagon, headquarters of the Department of Defense in Washington D.C., is the world's largest office building with three times the floor space of the Empire State Building in New York. Situated on the Virginia side of the Potomac River, it houses 30,000 employees in offices that occupy 3,707,745 square feet.

Neighbor finds man dead in home

A Sedalia man was found dead in his garage Monday morning, apparently of natural causes.

Walter E. Dobel, 87, 1311 West Fourth, died at about 11 a.m. Monday.

Police reported that Dobel was found on the floor in his garage by a neighbor. Pettis County Coroner Dr. John Owens told police that he believed Dobel died of natural causes. No autopsy is scheduled.

The body was taken to the McLaughlin Funeral Home where arrangements are incomplete.

The family of Arthur J. Morgan suggests that in lieu of flowers memorial contributions be made to Ellis Fischel Cancer Hospital in Columbia, Missouri, the Salvation Army of Sedalia or the Calvary Episcopal Church of Sedalia.

Communists infiltrate Senate office? Ho-hum

By TOM TIEDE
NEA News Analyst

WASHINGTON — There was a time, actually an epoch, when a suggestion of Communist infiltration in government was volcanic, blowing tops all across America. Times change.

Tiede

The other day Barry Goldwater passed the word the government may be suppressing information concerning Communist employees in the U.S. Senate, but as yet the response has closely resembled a snore.

Some of Goldwater's colleagues have yelped a bit, one easily abused freshman in the House of Representatives demanding an investigation of the matter. And too, there has been concern in parts of the politically conservative community, head-nodding mostly, and amens. Yet for the overall, the temperature has not risen a degree, the media having ignored Goldwater's comments with a decided ho hum, and a rather remarkable story has thus been left stillborn.

The story, as Goldwater tells it, is rooted in a months-ago conversation between himself and Vice President Nelson Rockefeller, when Rockefeller revealed that his commission on the CIA had uncovered evidence that "seven to nine" Senate staff members were Communists. When Goldwater asked why this information was not made public in the commission's report, he says that Rockefeller replied that he'd been asked to withhold it. By whom? For what reason? Goldwater says he doesn't know and Rockefeller is declining public comment.

Actually, the part of the story concerning the alleged Communists is admittedly not groundshaking. Communists in Washington are commonplace, the Soviet bloc diplomatic delegation numbering at least 1,500. For the most part they come and go as they please, to and from Capitol Hill, for example.

Says Goldwater: "Every once in a while in the Armed Forces Committee, I'll see the Russian equal sitting out there. Once in a while someone will go say, 'Is there anything you're not understanding?' — just to make him feel at home."

As for Red spy activity, it's enormous. The Russian diplomatic delegation has grown by a factor of 10 over the last decade, and so presumably has its capacity to snoop. FBI Director Clarence Kelley says a "substantial proportion" of Soviet diplomats engage in espionage, and so most probably do large numbers of the 2,000 to 3,000 others from that nation who visit the United States each year. No news here, for sure. The Communist ear is so routinely obvious that the U.S. eavesdrops on the Soviets while they eavesdrop on the U.S.

The matter of Communist Senate staffers is also old hat. Goldwater and others have for years suspected as much. One John Birch member in the House, Georgia Democrat Larry McDonald, regularly uses the Congressional Record to levy charges that congressional aides as well as congressional members are supporters of Communist organizations. There is an unfortunate tendency among some accusers to confuse radicalism with Soviet sympathy, but at least a half dozen senators and representatives are, in private, considered to be pinko.

There's no argument that Communist influence here should be of concern, as should the influence of any anti-democratic ideology, racism to name another. Members of Congress and their aides take a loyalty oath to support the U.S. Constitution, and, to an extent short of witch hunting, they must be expected to keep faith. McDonald is correct when he suggests we do ourselves no good when we investigate our own spies — the CIA and FBI — and ignore the labors of the KGB.

Yet because the news of Communists in Washington is ageless, the real story of Goldwater's conversation with Rockefeller lies, as these things ever do these days, in the fact that the government considers it necessary to keep it secret. The vice president of the nation has been told not to advise Americans of alleged anti-Americans working in their Congress. That stings. And that part of the country that has not yet lost the capacity to anger should be angry.

Perhaps Goldwater should be the angriest of all. He has received summit-level confirmation of his long-held notion that, as he says, the Soviets "have our country absolutely infiltrated." Yet even as a senator he's denied the precise information. Plainly, he should now realize that secrecy is an even greater U.S. worry than communism.

Carl Rowan China out to spoil detente

WASHINGTON — Whether you are a Republican right-winger, angry and worried that both Richard Nixon and Gerald Ford "fell for" detente with the Soviet Union, or you believe that in fashioning detente Henry Kissinger proved himself one of the great diplomats of all time, you have to be a little disturbed by recent events in Peking.

Rowan

It has been clear for a long time that the Chinese are unhappy with supposedly growing "detente" between the U.S. and the Soviet Union. And it is obvious that more is involved than a childish Chinese notion that the U.S. cannot be friends with China's enemy, Russia, and be a genuine friend of China.

The Chinese are gripped in fear that the world's two great powers, the U.S. and the Soviet Union, are still trying to divide up the world, with each nuclear giant receiving hegemony over certain areas. China and other nations would be subordinated to this "understanding" of divided world domination that would pass under the label of "detente."

Chinese Foreign Minister Chao Kuan-hua was exceptionally blunt the other day in toasting Kissinger in Peking when Chao said "the danger of a new world war is mounting ... the only way to deal with hegemonism is to wage a tit-for-tat struggle against it. To base oneself on illusions, to mistake hopes or wishes for reality and act accordingly, will only abet the ambitions of expansionism and lead to grave consequences."

What is Chao Kuan-hua telling us? That Peking will initiate a world war rather than see the U.S. and the Soviet Union agree on dividing up the world for their special domination? It is hard to imagine China, with her modest nuclear achievements, starting a war against two awesome nuclear powers.

Or do the Chinese believe the "danger of a new world war is mounting" because the Soviets are suckering the U.S. into concessions which will give Russia a military supremacy that will afford her the nerve to strike the U.S.?

Is it this notion that led Chao to suggest that Kissinger is dealing with the Soviet Union on the basis of "illusions," that he is mistaking "hopes or wishes for reality"?

We see strange behavior from the Chinese these days. There are numerous signs that Peking was most unhappy to see the demise of Richard Nixon. Perhaps because, in private talks in China, Nixon convinced Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-lai that his overtures to the Soviet Union were part of a game; that he was the same old Communist hater who put Alger Hiss behind bars; that there was no way the Kremlin would ever sucker him.

It would appear that China's rulers have serious doubts about the ability of Ford to deal as slickly with the Kremlin as Nixon would have.

Well, you can bet that Ronald Reagan and his arch-conservative allies have taken note of, and will do their utmost to exploit politically, Peking's distaste for and doubts about the Ford-Kissinger version of detente.

The American public, however, must ignore the political exploitation of an issue fraught with paranoia. Only a few years ago I found that wherever I saw a Russian diplomat he was probing about U.S. intentions toward Peking. The haunting fear in Moscow was that Washington and Peking would get together and try to squeeze the Soviets out.

The Russians, advantaged by full diplomatic relations with Washington and the fact that they represented a greater threat to the U.S. than China, simply got there first with "detente."

Peking is not about to wipe out U.S.-Soviet detente, no matter how somberly the Chinese may speak of the danger of a new world war. The Chinese would do well, however, to push for total diplomatic relations with the U.S. China would be smart to open wide its borders to American journalists and others, for the Chinese can never fully compete with the Soviets as long as China retains political, economic and cultural isolation.

FBI held back data from Warren panel

By JACK ANDERSON with Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — The FBI withheld from the Warren Commission hundreds of documents about the John F. Kennedy assassination.

These are raw FBI files, which the commission requested but never received. They contain no startling information that will overturn the commission's verdict, but they reveal intimately how the FBI handled its most important case.

In the margins of some suppressed memos, the late FBI chief, J. Edgar Hoover, scribbled caustic comments in blue ink. He was critical of almost everyone involved in the investigation, from Dallas police chief Jesse Curry to President Lyndon Johnson.

Confidential notes kept by one top FBI official, for example, quote Hoover as warning: "Johnson may become very dictatorial. We must keep our guard up."

Sources familiar with the suppressed documents say the contents were summarized and submitted to the Warren Commission. But there were some subtle, perhaps deliberate, omissions.

The documents show that Hoover brought pressure on his subordinates to rush out a preliminary report on the FBI investigation before the murdered President's brother, Robert Kennedy, returned to his post as attorney general.

The confidential notes quote Hoover as instructing his subordinates to get the report out of the Justice Department "before Bobby gets back."

Apparently, the FBI chief also feared Deputy Attorney General Nicholas Katzenbach might tamper with the report before forwarding it to the Warren Commission. Hoover told his aides to alert President Johnson's major domo, Walter Jenkins.

"Let Jenkins know after report is out of our hands," Hoover directed. "Let Jenkins know what Katzenbach is doing. Might cause long delay. Must not consider any alteration."

Thirteen days after President Kennedy was gunned down in Dallas, Hoover delivered a detailed report to Katzenbach naming Lee Harvey Oswald as the assassin. Katzenbach kept it four days before submitting it to the commission.

The crusty, old G-man was furious at the Dallas police chief, meanwhile, for leaking the story that the FBI had investigated Oswald but had failed to alert the Secret Service.

"This is lowest level in history of Bureau since I have been director," Hoover lamented, according to the confidential notes.

He contended that Oswald had never been seen with firearms, had written no hate letters against U.S. leaders. As a former defector, he also knew he was a marked man whom the FBI was watching.

"With that background," grumbled Hoover, "how could he be security risk? No indication of violence so far as our records show ... Oswald could have, hollered false arrest if we had arrested him."

The FBI chief commented that Chief Justice Earl Warren, who headed the commission, "would have been first one to holler" about Oswald's rights. Citing the criticism of the FBI, Hoover commented: "This is one of the rough ones."

He felt, therefore, that President Johnson should have endorsed the FBI report. "President should have backed up report," complained the G-man, "based on evidence gathered by FBI."

In private remarks that were never intended to be repeated outside his inner circle, he made deprecating remarks not only about President Johnson but about Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., who was then preparing to run against LBJ for the presidency.

"Goldwater has no sound advisers around him," Hoover noted. But his comment on Johnson was more deadly. "LBJ's speeches are dull," said the G-man.

The Warren Commission adopted a resolution, meanwhile, calling for "the raw materials upon which any reports given to the commission are based, together with all raw materials and reports relating to the work of the commission since the date of any and all earlier reports."

J. Lee Rankin, the general counsel, followed up with a "Dear Edgar" letter to the FBI chief requesting the raw files "as promptly as possible." But they were never delivered.

A commission lawyer, remembering those days more than a decade ago, told us: "Nobody ever got the FBI's own files." In 1963-64, another staff member pointed out, the FBI "could do no wrong," so no one pressed too hard for their internal records.

Now, 12 years after the Kennedy assassination, a fascinating story is still locked in FBI files awaiting a public reopening. We will tell part of the story in future columns. Sen. Richard Schweiker, R-Pa., chairman of the Senate Intelligence subcommittee investigating the assassination, is seeking the full story from the FBI.

Footnote: FBI spokesmen stoutly defended the FBI's findings and the thoroughness of the investigation. They conceded that "informative" and "deliberative" memos were not given to the commissions. But "everything they needed was given then. They had all they wanted to make their findings."

Film action gets praise

I was so thankful when I read in today's paper that no more X-rated films would be shown at the State Fair Twin Cinema. I wish to publicly thank Dr. Ronald Shuler and Mayor Jerry Jones for filing complaints against the "Double-X"-rated movie, "Tower of Love."

I believe that all of us ... who are concerned about the future of our children and our country owe these two men a debt of gratitude.

Chiefs even record with 26-13 victory

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Don't embarrass the Kansas City Chiefs.

The Denver Broncos learned that lesson Sunday. Five weeks ago, the Broncos ripped what then was the best part of the Chiefs to ribbons, their defense, and beat them 37-33.

Sunday the Chiefs got even, embarrassing not only the Broncos' defense but their offense and handed Denver a 26-13 National Football League beating, leaving both teams 3-3 in the American Conference Western Division.

"I think our defense felt some embarrassment over what happened the first time we played Denver," said Chiefs Coach Paul Wiggins. "and had kind of a silent plan to change that. I'm proud of our whole secondary. Since their letdown in the first part of the season, they've really come back."

The Chiefs' defense intercepted three passes and made a key fumble recovery. The offense came up with two glittering plays just when it appeared Denver might take charge and wipe out the last of a 9-0 lead Kansas City stacked up over the first three quarters.

Kerry Reardon got one of the interceptions, grabbing Steve Ramsey's pass and returning it 12 yards to the Denver 22. A face mask penalty on the play put the ball on the 17.

Four plays later, Chiefs quarterback Mike Livingston embarrassed the Broncos soundly. He kept the ball on a third and one situation, rolled around the right side for eight yards and a touchdown, the first scored against Denver in more than nine consecutive quarters. Nobody touched him. Nobody was even close to him.

Chiefs defensive end Wilbur Young picked up a Jon Keyworth fumble and ran six yards to the Broncos' two. After Livingston fumbled for a five-yard loss, he hit Billy Masters with a seven-yard touchdown pass.

Earlier in the fourth quarter when the Chiefs led only 9-6, Kansas City ran a double reverse, Livingston handing off to Ed Podolak, who handed off to Larry Brunson. Brunson set sail through the Broncos' defense for 65 yards to the 10.

Jan Stenerud, who had earlier field goals of 28, 46 and 37 yards, booted a 23-yard three-pointer. Stenerud now has 895 career points, No. 10 on the all-time NFL list.

Fran Lynch ended a 71-yard drive with a one-yard burst for one Denver TD, and Ramsey tossed a 19-yard pass to Keyworth for the other in the final minute.

Wiggins said Livingston's successful keeper play for a touch down "was devised during the week. We knew it would either go for all or nothing. You never know if the defensive guys are going to meet you nose-to-nose."

Coach John Ralston of Denver said it was "difficult to assess where we let up. The turnovers hurt us. I'm extremely disappointed. I came into this game very confident. This kind of puts us behind the eight ball."

Maravich guides Jazz in overtime

By The Associated Press
Pete Maravich is a pistol when he shoots from the outside, but he's even more of a straight shooter from the foul line.

The top gun of the New Orleans Jazz was given the easier shot more than the New York Knicks wanted, and the inevitable resulted Sunday night. The Jazz won the National Basketball Association game 125-114 in double overtime.

"Both teams had plenty of chances to win," said New York Coach Red Holzman. "We just didn't do it. We threw the ball away an awful lot, but then their defense was awfully good."

The best of all was Maravich, who scored 45 points — including six free throws in the waning seconds of the second overtime period that put the game away for New Orleans. In all, Maravich hit 23 of 26 shots from the foul line.

In the night's other NBA game, the Seattle SuperSonics whipped the Phoenix Suns 113-99. In the American Basketball Association, the Spirits of St. Louis downed the San Diego Sails 101-85; the Kentucky Colonels whipped the Virginia Squires 130-112 and the New York Nets stopped the Indiana Pacers 118-111.

SuperSonics 113, Suns 99
Leonard Gray poured in 27 points as Seattle defeated Phoenix. Fred Brown added 21 points to offset the 29-point performance by Phoenix rookie Al-

Dave Lawson of Shawnee Mission, Kan., kicked a 60-yard field goal for the Air Force against Colorado last season.

Hall of Fame game to Warriors

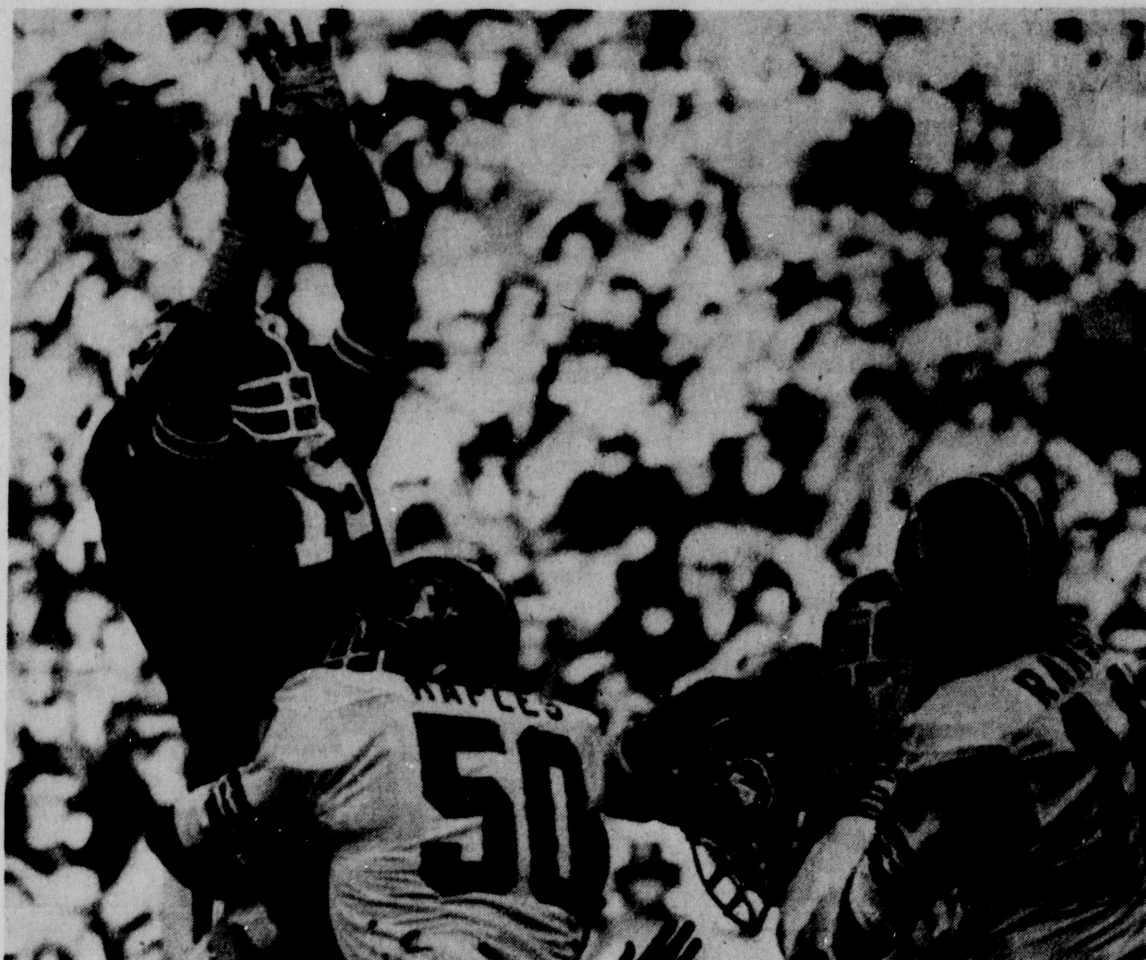

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Sparked by the 22 points of rookie Gus Williams, the Golden State Warriors won the annual Basketball Hall of Fame exhibition game at Springfield Civic Center Sunday night, beating the Houston Rockets 108-104.

Williams was backed up by 20 points from Phil Smith. Houston's Calvin Murphy had game high scoring of 23.

The bowl game features Missouri members of the NAIA each year.

Bears, Vikings square off in televised game

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Bears, their running attack sharpened by a pair of reserve backs, have awarded starting assignments to Mike Adamle and Roland Harper.

Adamle, acquired from the New York Jets, and Harper, a surprising 17th-round draft pick, lack the stature of, say, a Chuck Foreman, who will come to town Monday night with the Minnesota Vikings for a National Football League game to be televised at 9 p.m. EST on ABC-TV.

But, with starting runners Walter Payton and Cid Edwards sidelined by injuries, the pair of reserves combined for 196 yards last week in a 34-3 loss to the Pittsburgh Steelers. Adamle's 110 yards marked the top performance in three years by a Bears' ball carrier.

The Bears, 1-4, are a 17-point underdog against their 5-0 northern neighbors in the NFL's Central Division. It was just three weeks ago that Fran Tarkenton shredded the Chicago secondary and led the Vikings to a 28-3 victory.

But the rebuilding Bears, with 14 rookies on the squad, figure they can start winning if they eliminate the errors and penalties that have plagued them recently.

"We took a step forward today," Coach Jack Pardee said after the loss in Pittsburgh. "If we keep that up, we'll win some football games this year. We made good progress hitting and staying together. We're so close ... yet so far."

Although Adamle and Harper were rewarded with starting roles, Payton is off the injured list and figures to play. The Bears listed defensive ends Richard Harris (knee) and Mike Hartenstein (foot) as probable, Edwards (ankle) questionable and wide receiver Ron Shanklin (knee) out for the season.

The Vikes listed runner Brent McClanahan (ankle) as doubtful, tight end Doug Kingsriter (knee) questionable and quarterback Bob Berry (ankle) questionable.

Tackle Wally Chambers sacked Tarkenton four times three weeks ago and a good day for the Bears youthful front four could spell trouble for the Minnesota passing game. But the Viking quarterback said he expected his aerial attack to work against Chicago.

"If we're a championship team we certainly need to be able to do that," he said.

Tarkenton did show some respect for the Bears.

"They're big and strong enough to play an honest four-three defense," he said.

Utz wins 2nd IMCA crown

SHREVEPORT, La. — Sedalia race car driver Bill Utz has claimed his second consecutive International Motor Contest Association sprint car championship.

He did it with the help of the weather and a no-show Sunday by Jan Opperman, who trailed Utz by only 75 points going into the last two IMCA Championship races of the 1975 season.

Rain cancelled Saturday's scheduled program, which included a 30-lap feature on the asphalt track.

Rain was forecast again for Sunday, so Opperman, Noxon, Mont., and a few of the other top-named entries pushed on to Birmingham, Ala., for a non-sanctioned IMCA program.

With Opperman out of town, the crown automatically went to Utz, but the defending IMCA champ raced on the asphalt anyway.

He qualified for the 30-lap feature Sunday by placing second behind John Henson of Huntington, West Va., in the third heat. Utz went on to the feature and placed fifth.

Utz participation, the runner-up finish in the heat and the fifth-place finish in the feature earned him 175 points for an unofficial total for the season of 2,730.

Utz, a Sedalia businessman during the week and part-time racer on the weekends, piloted the Dean Hathman-Pat O'Connor Chevrolet sprinter to its first IMCA national championship a year ago.

Utz joined an elite field of past drivers, including Fred Horey, Sig Haugdahl, Gus Schrader, Emory Collins, Frank

Bill Utz

Luptow, Deb Syder, Bobby Grim, Pete Folse, Jerry Richert and Jerry Blundy, in winning his back-to-back titles in 1974 and '75. He is only the 11th man in the history of the IMCA (since 1925) to win consecutive sprint car titles.

Utz and Opperman were the only drivers left who had a chance for the 1975 driving title. Utz, whose favorite racing surface is dirt compared to asphalt, saw Bob Smith, Tampa; Ralph Parkinson, Sr., Kansas City; Skip Manning, Bogalusa, La.; and Bobby Marshall, Dallas; finish ahead of him in Sunday's 30-lap feature.

But it probably didn't bother the 38-year-old Sedalia driver, since he picked up the fifth-place check — enough to clear the expenses for the trip — and his second consecutive IMCA sprint championship.

Junior Kickers remain in first

KANSAS CITY — Sedalia remains in first place in the junior division of the Heart of America Soccer League standings on the strength of Sunday's 8-0 romp over Shawnee Mission (Kan.) East.

The win pushed the Junior Kickers' record to 7-1 for 14 points and a four-point lead over K&A United and Good Karma both of Kansas City.

Playing against a strong wind in the first half, Sedalia,

David Babiracki by four seconds

GARDNER, Mass. (AP) — The difference was only four seconds, but David Babiracki of Granada Hills, Calif., ran away with the national 20-kilometer road racing championship Sunday.

Boston marathon champion Bill Rodgers finished second. He and Babiracki were far ahead of the rest of the pack. Babiracki's winning time was 60 minutes, 20 seconds.

Two of Army's tackles, John Gallagher of Piqua, Ohio, and Ken Liepold of Cicero, Ill., weigh slightly more than 245 pounds.

'Huskers seeking to break MU jinx

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Tom Osborne faces the Missouri roadblock again Saturday.

Osborne, now in his third season as coach at Nebraska, has never guided his Huskers to victory over the Tigers.

Osborne gets his third shot at Missouri in Columbia. His first two failures were close. The Tigers edged Nebraska 13-12 in 1973. A year ago, the Huskers were all but ready to tie a victory in ribbon but Steve Pisarkiewicz and Tony Galbreath ganged up for three Missouri touchdowns in the fourth quarter for a 21-10 triumph.

Pisarkiewicz will be poised for Nebraska again Saturday. So will Galbreath if he conquers his scrap with tendinitis, a condition that has bothered him since the third game of the season.

Fourth-ranked Nebraska takes a 7-0 record, including three Big Eight Conference victories, into Saturday's game after its 63-21 clobbering of 10th-ranked Colorado last Saturday. Missouri, ranked 15th, defeated Kansas State 35-3 and is 5-2 and 2-1.

One other game Saturday has more than passing interest. Second-ranked Oklahoma, 3-0 and 7-0 like Nebraska, moves to Oklahoma State to battle the Cowboys in another renewal of their bitter feud.

The Cowboys haven't beaten Oklahoma since 1966 and only twice in the last quarter of a century. Oklahoma is fresh from a 39-7 victory over Iowa State, and O-State, 1-2 and 5-2, regained the winning touch by blasting Kansas 35-19.

All of the clubs except Nebraska, Oklahoma and Missouri are more or less out of the Big Eight title picture, each having lost at least twice.

Nebraska's victory wasn't too surprising but the ease with which the Huskers pounded Colorado was startling. Colorado, 1-2 and 5-2, lost to Oklahoma only by 21-20 three weeks ago.

The outmanned Buffs fumbled seven times and had two interceptions. They scored first on Dave Williams' 74-yard touchdown run on the game's third scrimmage play but the Huskers came back and led 42-7 at halftime. Vince Ferragamo threw two TD passes for Nebraska, and John O'Leary ran for two more scores.

Despite 13 fumbles, Oklahoma ran roughshod over the Cyclones, 1-2 and 4-3. Joe Washington scored on runs of three and six yards and had 90 yards on 14 carries. Oklahoma led 17-0 after one quarter, its Leroy Selmon-led defense forcing Iowa State into numerous early turnovers.

Oklahoma has a 27-game winning streak, longest in the nation, and hasn't lost in its last 35 games.

Junior college transfer Curt Brown, filling in at tailback for Galbreath, made his first start and romped six yards and 27 yards for Missouri touchdowns against the Wildcats, 0-3 and 3-4. Pisarkiewicz passed for another touchdown and scored one himself on a three-yard sneak.

Kansas, 1-2 and 4-3, made too many mistakes to hope to beat the Cowboys. After Robert Turner put O-State ahead with an a one-yard run, the Jayhawks made their last bid by getting even with a one-yard burst by Nolan Cromwell. Scott Burk scored the go-ahead touchdown on an eight-yard run. Turner also contributed another Cowboy six-pointer on a two-yard run as did Burk with a seven-yard thrust.

Walking wounded

Atlanta's rookie quarterback Steve Bartkowski (top) and New England's Jim Plunkett (right) watch from the sidelines after they were injured Sunday during their respective games with Cincinnati and San Francisco. Bartkowski has a dislocated left elbow. The injury happened when he was hit by Cincinnati defenders after throwing a first-quarter TD pass to Jim Mitchell. Plunkett reinjured his separated left shoulder against the 49ers in the first half.

Mo. Valley, Graceland heading for showdown

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Missouri Valley and Graceland just keep rolling along in the Heart of America Conference, but a showdown may be coming.

The Vikings of Missouri Valley, riding a standout performance by quarterback Craig Conklin, easily handled Baker Saturday, 32-6, boosting their conference mark to 4-0 and their overall record to 7-1. That's good enough for fifth place among NAIA Division II teams nationally.

Graceland, meanwhile, stomped Ottawa, 27-0, to boost its league record to 3-0. The Yellowjackets are 5-1-1 in all games.

Graceland hosts Central Methodist next Saturday, while Missouri Valley journeys to William Jewell. But the real test—and the deciding game for the Heart of America title—could come Nov. 8 when the Vikings and Yellowjackets clash at Missouri Valley.

The Vikings, whose only loss came to Washburn last month, had little trouble dispatching hapless Baker, 0-3 and 1-4. Conklin threw two touchdowns and scampered for two more as Missouri Valley flicked aside an early 6-0 lead by Baker and stormed to a 21-6 advantage at half. Four of the Vikings scores resulted from Baker turnovers: two fumbles, a pass interception and a blocked punt.

Conklin, enjoying one of the best days of his career, hurled touchdowns of 35 and 31 yards, and ran for scores of three and nine yards.

In Ottawa, Bob Piepergerdes of Graceland snared a 12-yard pass from Dave Hamilton with 46 seconds left to cap the Yellowjackets' win over Ottawa.

Graceland rolled up 235 yards rushing, while holding the Braves to just 31. Last-place Ottawa fell to 0-4 and 2-5 with the loss.

In other Missouri college football, Northeast Missouri clubbed Lincoln, 27-7; Southwest Missouri upset Northwest Missouri, 25-21; Southeast Missouri blanked Missouri Western, 22-0; Benedictine handed Tarkio a 20-6 setback; Central Methodist edged William Jewell, 15-11; Washington of St. Louis squeezed by Trinity, 10-9; Missouri Southern tied Pittsburg State, 10-10; and Culver Stockton fell to Cornell, Iowa, 20-9.

American team brings home 116 gold medals

MEXICO CITY (AP) — America's delegation to the Pan American Games goes home with memories of thousands of candles and dazzling fireworks, while lugging baskets of Mexican gold.

The candles and fireworks were part of an emotional ceremony Sunday night ending the seventh edition of these Olympic-like hemisphere games. The gold came in competition, not from tourist shops.

Americans took with them 116 gold medals in one of their strongest showings ever and some bitter as well as pleasant memories.

Throughout the two weeks of competition in 19 sports, U.S. athletes, and the Stars and Stripes, were subjected to whistling, the Mexican form of booing. It turned up again at the closing ceremony but this time the cheers drowned out the whistles. The Mexicans only had nine months to prepare for the games because Brazil and Chile had previously pulled out. There was confusion, many mixups and mistakes.

The confusion lasted even longer than the Games.

Brazil and Mexico both were awarded gold soccer medals because a light failure Saturday night prevented them from finishing the soccer final. Then officials asked for the medals back and told the teams to play again next Wednesday. The Brazilians said no thanks, and booked a flight home Monday morning.

Hours after the closing ceremony Mario Vazquez Rana, president of the Games' Organizing Committee, overruled everybody, said the original decision stands, and promised gold medals to both teams.

Only a few hours before the closing, the American equestrian team captured the games' final gold medal, in the Grand Prix of Nations, to raise Uncle Sam's total medal count to 247, including 83 silver and 48 bronze.

At the outset, sports writers, and athletes and coaches themselves, predicted the U.S. would have serious competition from Cuba. That island nation did earn 58 gold medals, 44 silver and 30 bronze, but after the first few days it became clear this would once again become an American runaway.

The fact that the games are an American sweep every four years, and turned out to be even more so this time around, brought renewed demands from some Latin American sectors for a reorganization of the games to exclude the U.S. That does not appear likely to happen.

Colbert, Refram combine to win team golf title

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — "It was time something good happened to us," declared Jim Colbert, speaking for himself and fellow golf pro Dean Refram.

Colbert, who missed the final third of the 1974 PGA tour when his wife was hospitalized for major surgery, struggled through the first half of this year trying to regain the form that had carried him to four tour victories.

Refram, whose tour career hit the skids several years ago when his croquet putting style was outlawed, was burned over 65 per cent of his body 15 months ago by a faulty steam tank.

Those setbacks provided a patented Walt Disney rags-to-riches story Sunday when Colbert and Refram won the $200,000 National Team Championship at Walt Disney World.

The hard-luck duo each pocketed $20,000 after posting a final round 64, good for a tournament record 36-under-par total of 252. Tied for second, three shots back, were the teams of John Schlee-Bobby Cole and Victor Regalado-Curtis Sifford. The four runnersup each collected $10,504.

Entering the final round with a three-shot cushion, Colbert and Refram bolted to four straight birdies on the opening holes, then had to put together another birdie binge — four in five holes — to ward off Sifford and the sizzling Regalado on the back nine.

Australian team wins tennis title

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP) — The two-member Australian team took home the first trophy from the world senior team tennis tournament, concluded over the weekend at the Greenbrier here.

In the singles finals Saturday, Frank Sedgman, 45, of Australia defeated Torben Ulrich, 46, of Europe 3-6, 7-5, 6-4. Tony Trabert of United States East beat teammate Vic Seixas, 6-3, for third place.

In the round robin doubles competition, Sedgman and Bob Howe defeated Ulrich and Sven Davidson 6-2, 6-4 and Trabert and Seixas beat Pancho Segura and Hugh Stewart of United States West 6-4, 6-1.

Team totals were Australia 22, U.S. East 19, Europe 15 and U.S. West 8.

Vilas upset

TEHRAN — American Eddie Dibbs upset defending champion Guillermo Vilas of Argentina 6-3, 6-1 to advance into the final of the $100,000 Aryamehr Tennis Tournaments against Ivan Molina of Colombia.

the dummy was a disappointment. Still, there was one slim chance and South took it. At trick two he led his five of diamonds and finessed dummy's seven. When it held he finessed a spade, entered dummy with the ace of diamonds, discarded his two little spades on the ace-king of clubs, finessed again and made his grand slam.

Jim: "It is interesting to note that if West had played his ten of diamonds on South's five spot, the extra entry to dummy would have been killed."

Ask the Jacobys

A Maine reader wants to know what an entry establishing finesse is. This play is sometimes called, "The extra finesse". Today's article illustrates it. South has bid too much and needs two entries to dummy in order to take two spade finesses. He provides one by the extra finesse of dummy's seven of diamonds.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Jim: "It might be a good idea to show some examples of the entry finesse our Maine reader asks about."

Oswald: "Here is a simple example. South's bidding can best be explained by stating that he was an important expert trying to show off for some slow-playing tyros."

Jim: "Seven notrump was a definite overbid, yet if North held some extra values such as four hearts to the queen-jack there would be thirteen tricks available if diamonds broke."

Oswald: "Needless to say,

Park Service doesn't dig mine owner's handiwork

By DAVE CLEMENS
Associated Press Writer
CAPITOL REEF NATIONAL PARK, Utah (AP) — Clair Bird stumps through the gullies and washes of his mining claim, his face and neck as seamed and reddish-brown as the terrain. Now and then he turns to point out rock outcroppings.

The 48-year-old descendant of settlers of this southern Utah red-rock country is much like other prospectors in the mineral-rich area.

But Bird is different in one respect. His 160-acre mining claim lies within scenic Capitol Reef National Park. Late in April, he began strip-mining ripple rock and other building stone near the park's visitors' center. It's the only mining operation in any of America's national parks, federal officials say. They do permit some private concessions in national parks, such as hotels and restaurants, but not mining. They're upset about Bird.

Ripple rock, Bird explains, as he turns over a piece to show its wavy markings, is sandstone laid down over 200 million years ago atop half-dry mud rippled by water.

A landscape company in Salt Lake City, which bought Bird's first load of rock (23.5 tons), says there is a market for this unusual stone. The company says it will buy at least some of Bird's future production and sell it for decorative facing and landscaping.

The National Park Service wants Bird out, but hasn't found a way yet to separate him from his mining lease and from a 20-room lodge and gas station he owns and operates in the park.

"We haven't any control over what he does, because the courts have said his mining lease is legal," says W. Franklin Wallace, superintendent of Capitol Reef National Park.

The government tried to buy Bird out, and later filed suit to nullify the lease. It succeeded in obtaining a restraining order against the mining. But then the 10th Circuit Court of Appeals in Denver ruled last year that Bird had a right to mine.

The area Bird actually has dug up isn't large — only a few square yards in a national park of 241,000 acres. But he says geologists have told him the ripple rock can be found in layers 60 to 70 feet deep in the hills of his claim, which is near state highway 24, the park's main access road. Bird says he would have to rip hundreds of cubic yards of earth and stone from the hills to get at the rock.

Wallace says the mining disturbs visitors to the park as well as National Park Service employees.

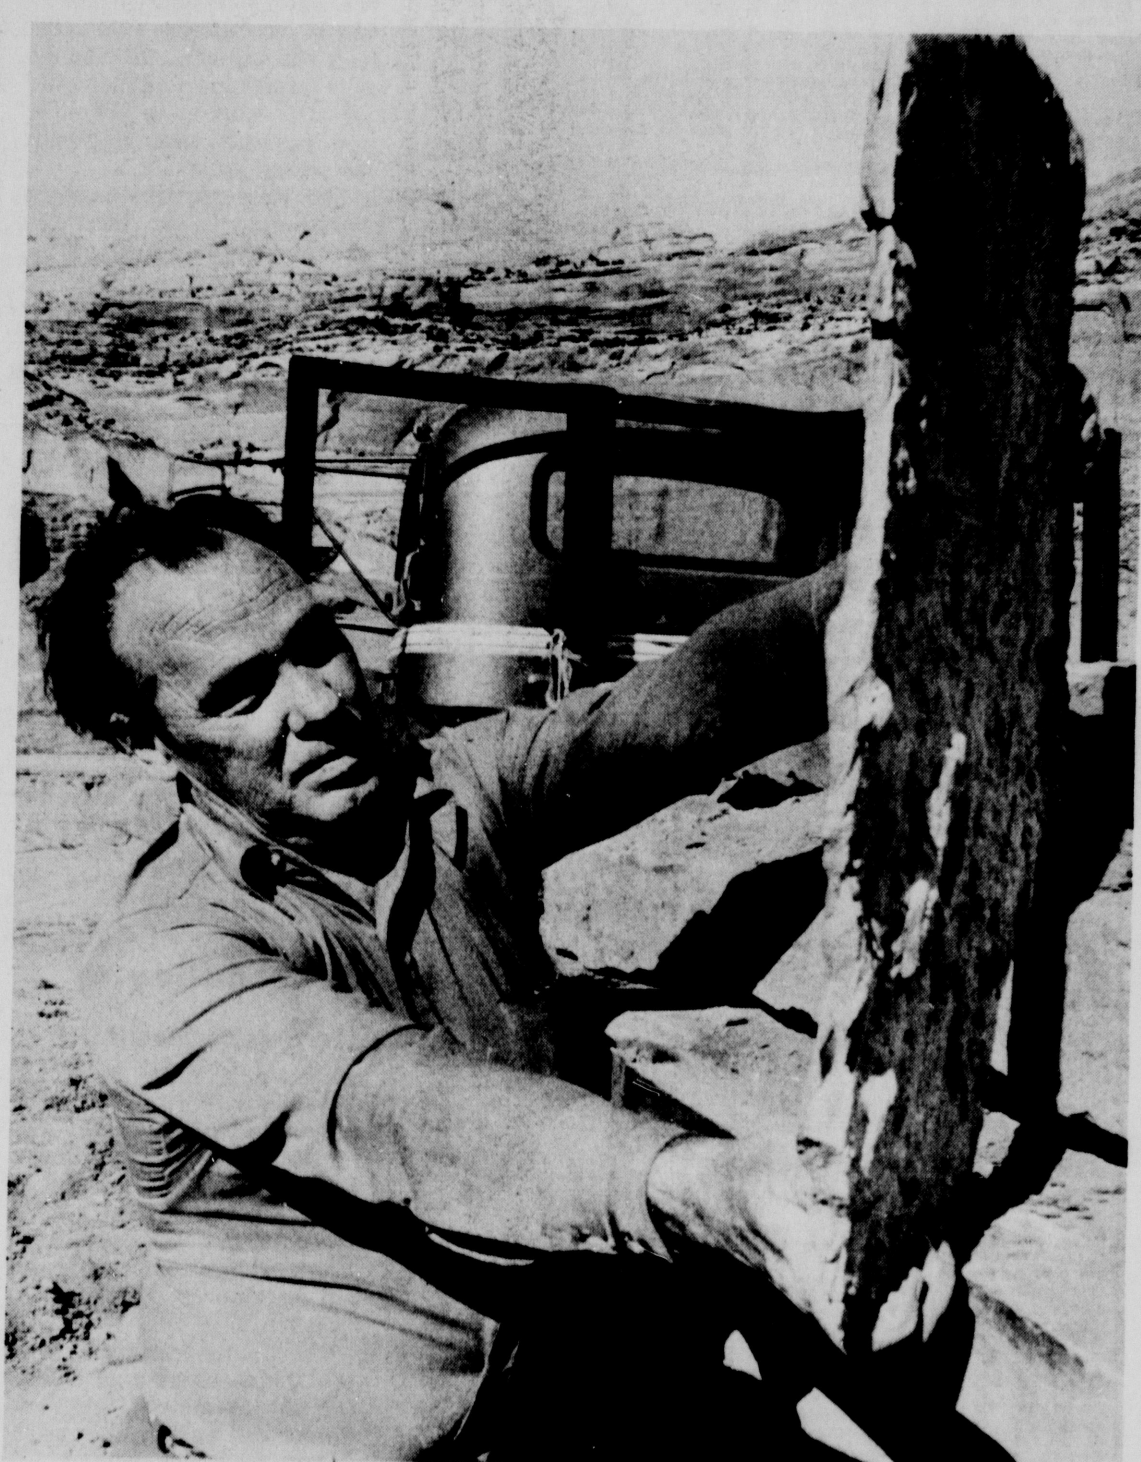

"The law establishing the national park system said the parks were to be preserved and protected for the future.

Bird expresses no compunction about his mining. It's not the first mineral speculation he has done in the area. He says he recently sold mining rights in the Circle Cliffs area south of the park to a Casper, Wyo., firm for $45,000. And he claims he earlier made money — how much he won't say — on uranium leases in the Waterpocket Fold before the Fold (a 100-mile-long bend in the earth's crust) became part of this national park in 1971.

Nature Conservancy, a private organization that buys land for the National Park Service, says Bird agreed last fall to sell his mining lease and the lodge and gas station for $400,000. But at the last minute, Nature Conservancy's board of directors failed to approve the deal, and there haven't been any negotiations since then with Bird.

He confirms that he was ready to sell for $400,000 last fall. Now, he says, "I may just stay here and mine for 100 years. I'm a bachelor and have no one depending on me, so I don't need their money. And I'd just as soon fight them."

Nevertheless, he has not mined any stone since early summer.

Stone of contention

"Ripple rock" is the name of the specimen prospector Clair Bird is holding up, and he strip-mines it here on his 160-acre claim in Capitol Reef National Park, Utah. The rock is in demand for decorative facing and landscaping. But the Park Service is dismayed by Bird's operation and they've taken the matter to the courts to try to stop it — so far unsuccessfully.

Park's strip mine scene

A front-end loader lifts a slab of rock mined from a claim amid the scenic grandeur of Capitol Reef National Park, Utah. Behind rises the rock formation known as "The Castle," a park landmark. The claim's owner, Clair Bird, center, watching the operation, obtained his lease in 1964, before the land became park territory in 1971, and he intends to continue mining in spite of moves to stop him.

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Blood pressure and hot weather

Dear Dr. Lamb — You might call me a health nut. I'm in my early 30s and take good care of myself. Don't smoke and never have and stay trim and fit by jogging or playing tennis regularly.

When I play tennis in the hot, humid weather the heat really bothers me. Some of my friends have told me this is a sign of high blood pressure. I have my blood pressure checked twice a year, and it has always been normal. Nevertheless, this bothers me. Would you comment on the relationship of heat to blood pressure, if any?

Dear Reader — The program you are following puts you in a far better risk category to avoid heart and vascular disease. If you continue your program you have a far better chance to enjoy years of good health than your contemporaries who smoke, don't exercise and get overweight.

You need to understand how your blood pressure is controlled.

In general your blood pressure is controlled by two factors, how much blood your heart pumps out into your arteries and how large the openings are in the arteries for the blood to flow through. Your blood pressure will increase if your heart pumps out more blood. This occurs when one exercises, gets excited or even with such disorders as an overactive thyroid.

Your arteries get larger or smaller in response to chemicals manufactured by your body or by simple reflex action of opening or closing the arteries. Most people don't seem to realize that the reflex action is almost as rapid as the blink of your eye, so blood pressure can change rapidly.

Several determinations in a row may be entirely different, particularly if a person is anxious.

During exercise, if you are in good condition, the arteries tend to open as the heart pumps out more blood. This enables the blood to move faster to all your muscle cells and without too much of a load on the heart. The pressure does go up, however.

Heat and humidity cause everyone's heart to work harder. As the heat is increased in experimental situations, the heart rate and blood pressure increase markedly. Heat, humidity and exercise combine to have an additive effect on the heart. That is why a person's exercise capacity is limited on hot, humid days compared to cooler days. Hospital patients with marginal heart function do better in a cool room than one that is warm.

Your sensation to heat tolerance is probably not related to any abnormal increase in blood pressure, since you are an active, healthy person. The loss of salt, water and your normal responses to increased body heat is what you really notice. The sensation of being hot is dependent upon nerves in your skin.

In general, people who are in good physical condition and are not fat tolerate heat the best. Because of the additive effect of exercise and heat, it is wise for everyone who is not acclimated to heat to decrease their peak level of exercise on hot and humid days. (NEA)

Johnny Mercer remains in coma

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Songwriter Johnny Mercer remained in a coma at Huntington Memorial Hospital here after undergoing brain surgery last week. A spokesman said Sunday that the 66-year-old Mercer was "slightly improved but still in precarious condition."

"I'm against tying up the land," he argues. "You look at those cliffs up there," he adds, pointing to the steeply rising sandstone cliffs ringing the valley in which his mining claim, gas station and lodge are located. "You look at those cliffs and you have to ask yourself, 'Who could destroy or spoil them?'"

"They've just made the park too big," he goes on, referring to an act of Congress which converted Capitol Reef National Monument into a national park in 1971 and expanded it from 39,000 to 241,000 acres. "They've closed the roads into some areas and now nobody can go in there, because you can't hike where there's no water."

Wallace counters, "The people involved in expanding the boundaries of the park had detailed surveys made and were convinced that everything to be taken in was of significant value. The area included in the expansion is probably one of the most unique geological areas in the United States."

Bird obtained his mineral and business leases in 1964 on what was then state-owned land. The state has since exchanged land with the federal government, which now holds Bird's leases.

The government must now do one of four things, says Reed Nielsen, acting Interior Department solicitor. Two of the options — condemning the lease or negotiating with Bird for its sale — are closed to the government for now, because the park has exhausted its allocation of land acquisition money. The other options are to let Bird mine or try to find technical grounds for invalidating his lease, as Wallace suggested the government might try to do.

Whatever happens to Bird, he has become a symbol to some.

"The local people think this is just another instance of the big federal bureaucracy coming in and telling a man what he can and can't do," Wallace says.

And Bird likes to display a letter he received last May from a Roosevelt, Utah, man. It reads:

"Clair, just wanted to congratulate you. It's good to see a little guy beat the Big Boys once in a while."

Wendy Yoshimura sits in isolation in jail

PLEASANTON, Calif. (AP) — When she was in school it seemed nobody knew she was there. Things haven't changed much for Wendy Yoshimura even after her arrest with roommate Patty Hearst.

Virtually all the attention has been focused on Miss Hearst and her fellow Symbionese Liberation Army comrades, William and Emily Harris.

Some of Wendy's isolation has been thrust upon her. She is kept in isolation, forbidden to leave her cell even for meals. She laughs lightly when told that Patty has dining room privileges and mingles with other prisoners every day. "I read about that. She gets out for a whole hour!"

Wendy, 32, said in her first jailhouse interview that if someone asks for her on visiting days, she is brought to the general visiting room but kept alone at a corner table while other inmates sit at a communal visiting area.

Arrested with Patty at a San Francisco apartment Sept. 18, she is in the Alameda County Jail, 35 miles southeast of San Francisco, awaiting trial on explosives and weapons charges unrelated to the Hearst case. Patty is at San Mateo County Jail in Redwood City, Calif., awaiting trial on federal bank robbery charges.

Since her arrest, after three years as a fugitive, Wendy says she is receiving warm support from other Japanese-Americans, many from her home town of Fresno, Calif.

She didn't elaborate on her goals for society during the interview.

She was pale but cheerful, smiling and gesturing animatedly as she talked. "I love art," she said, turning to her favorite subject. "I would like to show through art the changes that are happening in society. I would like to show visions of what life really is."

An artist who once aimed to work in graphics and commercial illustration, Wendy said she never stopped drawing — not even during her three years in the underground. "I've been doing water colors and drawings. I don't know where my work is now. The FBI has some of it — my work from school. It was in a portfolio."

The only daughter of Fresno gardeners Frank and Fumiye Yoshimura, Wendy was born in a California detention camp for Japanese during World War II. After their release, the Yoshimura family moved to Hiroshima, Japan. They lived there for 10 years, returning to California when Wendy was 13.

Authorities say their interest in her began after she vanished from the Oakland area in 1972. A friend, William Brandt, and two other men were arrested at a Berkeley garage filled with explosives. They entered guilty pleas to weapons and explosives charges.

Brandt, a student war protester who had gone to Cuba with Wendy in the 1960s in the Second Venceremos Brigade to help harvest the Cuban sugar cane crop, still is serving a one-to-15-year sentence at Soledad Prison. The two other defendants have been released.

A witness said Wendy rented the garage. A grand jury transcript says she legally purchased a gun found in the garage.

Girl Scouts give book to Mrs. Ford

WASHINGTON (AP) — First Lady Betty Ford has accepted a 200th birthday book to the nation from the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. The book, presented to Mrs. Ford in behalf of the nation on Sunday, contains materials on Bicentennial projects submitted by Girl Scout councils in 45 states.

Earlier on Sunday, Mrs. Ford and her husband made the first donation in the 1975 Trick or Treat Drive of the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund. President and Mrs. Ford each dropped quarters in UNICEF collection boxes held by costumed children in the White House Diplomatic Room.

Entertainer Danny Kaye, chairman of the drive, posed for photographs with the children and the Fords after the ceremony.

Gen. Ulysses S. Grant, hero of the Civil War and a Republican, was elected and served as the 18th President from 1869 to 1877.

Ann Landers

Sister sees light about special sibling

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a teenager who never thought the day would come when I'd be writing "Dear Ann" but it has. Maybe I can help some of your readers who had the same problem I suffered with for years.

My brother is brain-damaged. Until today, I was very impatient with him because he got more attention from my folks than I did. Last night my father explained to me for the first time exactly what is wrong with my brother. He told me how hard he has to work to do simple, ordinary things and how much progress he has made in the last few years. I know now how frustrating life must be for him and I respect him very much for the way he is trying to cope with his handicap.

Now I see him through different eyes. I love him and admire his courage. Please pass this on, Ann. — JB

Dear JB: What a beautiful letter! It's too bad your father didn't talk to you a few years ago. You would have been wiser sooner and your brother's life as well as yours would have been easier. Thank you for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: I was widowed four months when I met Alex. He was recovering from a broken romance that had lasted for seven years. Alex has been married for 20 years but to a woman he doesn't care for. He tells me he loves me very much and would like to marry me, but he doesn't want to upset his wife and children.

I thought I was getting away with sneaking Alex in and out of my bedroom for the last six months. He would arrive after my 12-year-old daughter, Helen, went to sleep and would tiptoe out the back door before she got up for breakfast.

Well, Helen saw Alex leave this morning and I thought I would die. She informed me that the neighbors told her what was going on but she didn't believe them. Seeing him with her own eyes was quite a shock.

Now Helen is begging me to move to another city because she is ashamed to face her friends. Money is no problem, Ann. I can live comfortably anywhere. The trouble is — I love Alex and believe he will marry me if I just give him time. Please advise. — In A Quandary

Dear Quan: The other dame gave him seven years and he didn't marry HER. I can't improve on your daughter's advice. I hope you take it — and the sooner the better.

Dear Ann Landers: Will you please tell your readers that just because a person hardly ever smiles or laughs it doesn't mean he is a sourpuss?

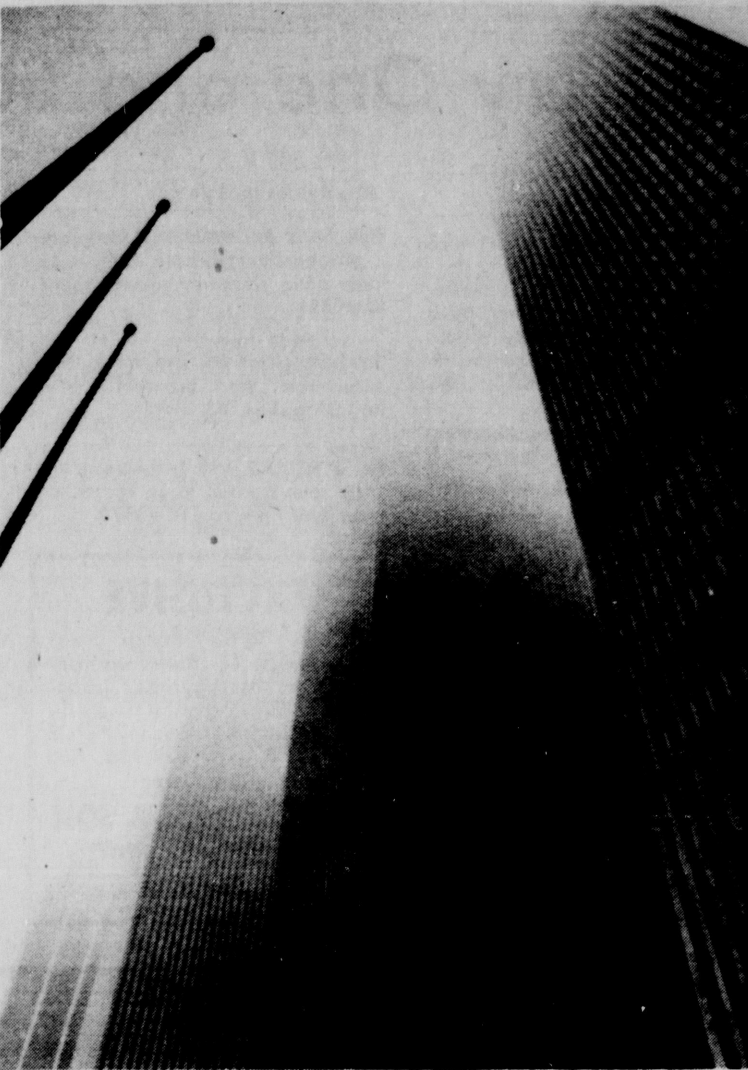

I'm a young man who, unfortunately, was not blessed with a happy face. But it's the only face I have and I can't force myself to put on another one. I am sick to death of people coming up to me and saying, "Why don't you smile? You look so glum."

I know several people who laugh a great deal and I'll bet most of it is put on. I don't want to be one of them.

It's too bad I wasn't blessed with a cheerful look and a happy smile, but I am what I am and I wish people wouldn't assume I'm an old meanie. Any suggestions? — Prejudged In Pennsylvania

Dear Judge: Any idiot can smile a lot. It's what you say and how you treat people that registers. If you are friendly, considerate, and pleasant, and have a good sense of humor, nobody will take you for a sourpuss. So cheer up, already.

Six persons die in weekend traffic deaths

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Six persons died over the weekend in three Missouri traffic accidents — four of them in the St. Louis area.

Eleven highway deaths were recorded for the weekend period, extending from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday.

Terry Krupp, 26, Florissant, and Keith Sutherland, 20, Ferguson, lost their lives early Sunday in a fiery car-truck collision on Interstate 44 in west St. Louis County.

On Friday night, Charles Wagner and Gregory Kelp, both of Florissant, died in a head-on collision in Berkeley, another St. Louis suburb.

A car ran off a bridge Saturday night near Clinton, landing upside-down in a creek and killing both occupants, Lawson Quinn, 48, Raytown, and William Hilde, Clinton. A coroner said both men drowned.

Other victims of weekend accidents were Edward W. Ellison, 23, Palmyra, Mo., in a two-car collision early Sunday on Missouri 168 near Hannibal; Terry Maness, 21, Benton, whose car ran off Missouri 141 just south of St. Louis Saturday and struck a utility pole; Albert Jones, 36, Leeton, whose car veered off Missouri 2 west of Windsor, striking trees and signs; Lynn Ann McCuan, 17, Dittmer, Mo., in a two-car collision Friday night near her hometown and Terrie Marie

Report says agencies respond poorly to rape

WASHINGTON (AP) — Police, hospitals and prosecutors generally respond poorly and haphazardly to rape cases and rape victims, according to a national survey conducted for the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration.

The study, released today by the LEAA, recommends that local officials develop ways to treat rape victims with more dignity and make it easier for them to provide evidence against their attackers. Many of the report's conclusions are similar to findings and recommendations made in recent years by women's groups.

The 15-month study was conducted by the Center for Women Policy Studies in Washington with a $238,437 LEAA grant. The report covers some 600 pages in four volumes. The LEAA will distribute a condensed version to state and local law enforcement agencies across the country.

The researchers found that rape victims usually must go to public hospitals for an examination to determine whether medical treatment is needed and to collect evidence for use in prosecuting the attacker.

Many private hospitals only reluctantly treat rape victims and may charge up to $75 for the examination, the report said.

"Most police officers have difficulty finding a hospital that will treat rape victims," the report said. "Hospitals have exhibited both reluctance to provide medical testimony and disparaging attitudes toward rape victims."

The conclusions were based on a survey of 51 police departments and 41 hospitals and clinics in large and medium-sized cities.

The researchers said a few facilities have developed special programs to assist rape victims but that many reformers have trouble changing institutional rules and traditions to accommodate the new procedures.

The report said most police departments have not developed the technological capability to identify rapists, even though many may be repeat offenders.

On the other hand, the report praised several police departments for using women investigators to handle rape cases. The report recommended that police departments stop assigning rape investigations to units handling prostitution since the cases require entirely different strategies and skills.
